STANDARDS FOR THE PROVISION OF NUCLEAR MEDICINE, IMAGING, THERAPY AND ASSAY SERVICES (“NM SERVICES”)

Following stakeholder consultations held from January to March 2017 and drawing reference from the relevant international best practices, MOH, together with the Advisory Committee on Nuclear Medicine appointed by the Director of Medical Services (see Appendix), have finalised the standards for the provision of nuclear medicine, imaging, therapy and assay services (the “NM Standards”) that can be applied in our local context.

2 MOH will be issuing the NM Standards, effective from 28 May 2019, to provide guidance to all healthcare institutions providing or intending to provide NM Services. MOH only intends to enforce these new standards with effect from the second half of 2020. Healthcare institutions are recommended to work towards achieving the NM Standards in the interim, so as to achieve safer and better quality NM Services, and operational readiness for future regulatory compliance.

3 The NM Standards and accompanying FAQs are enclosed. If you require any clarifications on the NM Standards or this circular<sup>1</sup>, please contact <elis@moh.gov.sg>.

Thank you.

Yours sincerely
