^ One case has been removed from the case count following further investigations. Case 57679's first COVID-19 test had been borderline positive. As a precautionary measure, MOH had classified him as a COVID-19 case and taken all necessary public health actions while he was being re-tested. Two subsequent tests came back negative for COVID-19, and investigations by laboratory experts and an expert panel assessed that his first test result was false-positive. All his household contacts had been swabbed and their test results have also come back negative. Neither the case nor his contacts had been exposed to risk of infection due to the initial classification.
