

My donation will change someone's future through:

education

a job

a new life

organ donation

Even beyond 60, you could still give the most precious gift of all, and help someone live on.

You don't require a fortune to help someone in need; all it takes is the simple but generous act of supporting organ donation.

From 1 November 2009, the Human Organ Transplant Act (HOTA) will include all Singaporeans and Permanent Residents above 60. This gives greater hope to someone who would otherwise die. To spread the message, share your decision with your family.
